

Asia Shock: Horror and Dark Cinema from Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, and Thailand

Asian Extreme cinema is hot, and this book lays it out in all its gory glory. Patrick Galloway, who last looked at samurai movies in his well-received Stray Dogs and Lone Wolves, now takes on Asian masters of suspense, exploitation, the supernatural, and bone-chilling, blood-curdling fear and evil. The films featured here are pan-Asian, including Korea and Thailand, and represent a mix of classics and the contemporary cutting edge. Included are viewing tips and overviews of genres and cultures. Galloway has all sorts of interesting insights and facts that'll make you want to rewatch your favorites, or check out some that you've never seen. -- WiredIt has a conversational feel, as if you're sitting down with a film buddy and just discussing the film. -- Twitch What with brain-sauce spaghetti, switchblade cellphones, and other wonders, could horror flicks from Korea, Japan, and Hong Kong be any better? Patrick Galloway savors the genre in Asia Shock. East Bay Express
