

Grampian Curiosities

This book is packed with strange and extraordinary stories. The Queens dwarf who jumped out of a pie and the farm with a museum in its buildings and a ruined castle in its garden - just a few of . Then there are the mysterious lums (chimneys) near Tomintoul and the Aberdeen restaurant that came to be known as the Monkey House. There is the intriguing story of a bird that wrote a book about the Indian Mutiny, and another tale about the Soos (airships) that operated from Buchan during the First World War. Then there is a little-known poem about how Aberdeen faced bankruptcy. There was a scandal of another kind when the Great Haircut Riot hit the city and out in the country there were eerie happenings on a farm called Bloody Brae. But on a cheerier note you can laugh at Mr Nisbets Twisters, or read about the great Salmon Dinners, or gasp at the sight of a giant on Deeside. All this, and much more besides, makes Grampian Curiosities the ideal companion to the North-east and a source of fascinating information that has never found its way into conventional history books.
