

Guest in a Hostile Society: Notes of the First Professor from an Arab University on Sabbatical Year in Israel

In 2000, Jordanian professor Mohanna Haddad spent his sabbatical year in Israel, hoping to broaden his understanding of a society he had been taught had no right to exist. He shares his experiences in Guest in a Hostile Society, leveling sharp criticisms at both Israel and the Middle Eastern countries that remain hostile to it. Anyone who wishes to gain insight into the people and cultures of this region will appreciate Dr. Haddad's accounts and his evenhanded, unflinching approach.
