Its looking at the world as both your playground and a your potential addressable market. For the last 10 years Jesse Krieger has built over 5 businesses in a variety of industries, from touring America in a rock band, to producing custom flash drives in China, from financing renewable energy projects to traveling the world as a dating coach. The common denominator that connects these diverse experiences is a lust for novelty and the willingness to push his comfort zone to learn and master new fields of knowledge. On this episode of Power Up Living, Jesse shares the 5 secrets hes learned over the last 10 years to inspire your own adventures as a lifestyle entrepreneur. - About our Guest - Jesse Krieger was born and raised in San Francisco but spends three to four months a year traveling the world. Whether its climbing volcanoes with friends in the Mediterranean or consulting with clients from Malaysia to Manhattan, Jesse views the world as both a playground and a potential addressable market. During his twenties Jesse started over five companies and sold the last two. He has lived in, worked in, and traveled to more than thirty countries and speaks German and Mandarin Chinese in addition to his native English. A graduate of UC Berkeley and formerly a touring rock guitarist, Jesse counts becoming a published author as his most recent achievement. When he is not consulting with clients on lifestyle and entrepreneurship, he can usually be found on a bicycle, pedaling up a steep mountain slope or yelling at the top of his lungs from the peak.
